Prologue

In the years to come many of the faces, names, and happenings of those precious years at Trinity will have been forgotten, and it is with the purpose of recalling these memories that the 1948 Ivy is presented. We sincerely hope that both Seniors and underclassmen will find the Ivy an interesting and enjoyable yearbook—one worthy of their Alma Mater.

Dr. Humphrey

Dedication

To Dr. Edward Frank Humphrey and Dr. Horace Cheney Swan who have generously given so much of their lives to Trinity, we dedicate these Ivy leaves.

Dr. Humphrey, a Phi Beta Kappa, received his A.B. from the University of Minnesota in 1903, his A.M. and Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1903 and 1912 respectively. Since 1915 he has served faithfully in the Department of History and Political Science.

Dr. Swan, who has been our Medical Director, received his M.D. from Tufts College Medical School in 1903 and his B.P.E. from the International Y.M.C.A. College. He has been at Trinity since 1905, in the Department of Physiology and Hygiene.

History of the College

Trinity College, at first called Washington College, was founded in 1823 by eighteen Episcopal clergymen under the leadership of Bishop Brownell. The College was located where the state capitol now stands. Starting with nine students, the College steadfastly grew in distinction and size.

In 1875 ground was broken on a hill at the outskirts of Hartford. The strangely-new brownstone Gothic towers rose above the cliffs, commanding a panoramic view both of Hartford and West Hartford. Students complained that it would be impossible to reach the new site because even horsecars did not run that far. Detailed thought was put into the new buildings. The trustees chose one of the most distinguished architects of that time—William Burges of England. With the stately architecture of Oxford and Cambridge in mind, Burges proposed an elaborate plan of enclosed quadrangles and constructed Seabury Hall, containing classrooms and a chapel, and Jarvis Hall, the dormitory, as the first units. Trinity became one the first colleges of true Gothic architecture in America. In 1881, Northam Towers was completed, forming a link between classrooms and dormitory. Although severe and bare of ivy, the quadrangle was taking shape. When Williams Memorial, which included the library and administrative offices, was given some years later by J. Pierpont Morgan, the pattern was fully established for later expansion.

The intervening years until 1929 showed no expansion in building, but the ivy colored walls and the overarching elms which lined the walks symbolized in appearance the dignity and tradition that Trinity had acquired. Under the guidance of Trinity's President, Dr. Ogilby, a new period of expansion was begun in 1929. Eight buildings were completed within the next ten years—Trowbridge Memorial, Cook Dormitory, Hamlin Dining Hall, the Chapel, the Chemistry Laboratory, Goodwin,

Then . . .

Ogilby, and Woodward Dormitories. The quadrangle was thus completed, lending a unique, compactness, and beauty to Trinity. As one views the large, modern Chemistry Laboratory at one end and the magnificent Gothic Chapel at the other extreme of the quadrangle, he realizes the success with which Trinity has carried out its motto "Pro Ecclesia et Patria." Religious practice has been a guiding force in making compatible education and belief. Just as each student, no matter what his major, must take one laboratory science course, so too must each student attend the church of his choice each week.

Trinity men have always served loyally and capably in our national emergencies, and naval formations and uniforms were a familiar sight on the campus during the past war. The un-hurried pace of pre-war years was temporarily replaced by the swift efficiency of naval code and regulations under the Navy V-12 program. And now, with the return of peace, Trinity has accepted the challenge of unprecedented demands for higher education.

The 125th Anniversary finds Trinity in the midst of a new building program to accommodate a student body of 650 men. A drive for sufficient funds has been successfully launched, and the profile of the College has been slowly changing during this last academic year. Ground was turned for the new Field House on Saturday, October 25, 1947, and a new dormitory, which will house 103 men, was begun on January 5, 1948. Although now upturned earth and scaffolds mar the campus scene, the present work is for Trinity's years of tomorrow.

G. Keith Funston

It is with great hope that Trinity College brings the Class of 1948 to its "Commencement" of the business of making a living. Most members of the class are veterans whose college experience was interrupted by the war, or who first came to Trinity as naval trainees. The maturity of purpose which they achieved during the war years has reinforced their desire to learn and directed their efforts into channels which have produced the highest grades and some of the most constructive student initiative in the history of the college. It will be a solemn moment for each man when, a graduate, he steps out of Trinity Chapel. The diploma in his hand will be a symbol of the confidence which his teachers have in him, a token of a job well done and of ability to accept new tasks.

We believe that the Class of 1948 has recognized college as a time and place for learning—of civilized conduct, of clear thinking, of mature responsibility. We know that the measure of the worth received by each man from his college experience is his success and happiness in later life. We hope that each Commencement will also be a time of refreshment of purpose and of re-evaluation of conduct for each undergraduate who remains. We hope that each underclassman will ask himself whether he has come closer to the maturity of conduct, thought, and responsibility which he is seeking in college; whether he is using every facility offered at the college to make himself a complete man—in the classroom, in extra-curricular activity, in the fraternity and dormitory, in the chapel, on the playing field, in the neighboring community.

College education today is a high privilege sought by many and awarded to those best qualified. The endowed funds, buildings, and equipment given by past generations make education at Trinity a particularly precious opportunity for those who win it. In accepting this opportunity, each man accepts a perpetual obligation to use his gift for the betterment of mankind besides himself and his family. May you respect that responsibility and pass on your opportunity to Trinity men of future years.

G. KEITH FUNSTON,

President.

A guiding hand

Prexy to Prexy

Class of 1948

Graduation for the class of 1948 has a special significance, for in the foxholes and outposts of Europe and the Pacific we came to regard our education with a more mature attitude, with a great resolve to obtain more than just a degree. Despite the difficulties of getting back into the swing of life at Trinity, our class has made an outstanding scholastic record, with close to ten per cent elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Gamma Mu. At the same time we helped to rejuvenate athletics, activities, and social events.

The successful football season depended to a large degree on Captain Bestor, Bob Boland, Courtney Page, and John Fink. Ed Faber's outstanding playing on the court was climaxed by election to the Eastern College team. Ed

Lemieux broke the thirty-year old two-mile record in cross-country.

Among activities the Jesters were particularly noteworthy this year, with brilliant performances by Mike Campo, Pete Stokes, and Ken Wynne, efficiently directed by Don Craig and capably managed by Deke Charles. Quite a literary circle developed in our class, with poet John Fandel, author and Review Editor Winky Gleason, and historian, Ted Lockwood. We were represented on the Senate by Ed Faber, President, Clint Macy, Ted Lockwood, Bob Ramaker, and Winky Gleason.

A brief glance at our class cannot possibly mention all the achievements of our members, nor does it venture to prophesy the future for the class of 1948.

The old Army trick

The Year — Fall

From the Chapel Tower

Last September was a pleasant time around the Trinity Campus. The air was still lethargic, and the leaves were just barely beginning to mellow. It was a time to renew old acquaintances and make new ones: a period of uneasy unfamiliarity for the Freshmen, and a brief feeling of superiority for the Upperclassmen. Buying the wrong book, frantically revising schedules, finding classrooms—all of these added to the chaos of the first week of class-work. Despite how hard one tried, his mind forever wandered out of the classroom into the misty memories of a fun-filled summer.

The Freshmen stood aghast at the torrid pace set by the fraternities during Rush Week; the steady stream of parties seemed an eternal delight. Eagerly the Freshman pledged the fraternity of his choice, dreaming of those nightly soirees in ecstatic terms. Then came the deadly silence. Slowly, and with a new-found wisdom, the pledges discovered that there is only one Rush Week a year.

The first football game dispelled any autumnal gloom, however, and there was a briskness in the air that had not been noticed the day before. The home football games were always followed by bigger parties—there was a celebration no matter who won. Girls—attractively draped in bewildering deviations of the "New Look"—adorned the campus and added much needed color to an otherwise painfully masculine decor.

By the time that the annual Sophomore Hop rolled around it was time for the final home game of the season, and the two combined to make a smashing finale for the football season. The fraternity parties provided a pleasing means of relaxing after the victories and that one bitter defeat.

Thanksgiving Holidays followed rapidly in succession, only marred by the fact that everyone had just received their mid-term grades. Promising themselves (and the entire family) to redeem their marks after the Holidays, students ate turkey minus the pangs of a guilty conscience.

The weather was definitely on the cool side by November, and all the Freshmen were getting their first indoctrination into the fabulous "Hartford weather club." They learned to live in their raincoats and to distrust the first sun ray as non-unionized.

Time suddenly seemed to creep, and between Thanksgiving and Christmas was the first edition of eternity. A little snow fell, someone played a Christmas carol, and studying took second place in competing with the activities that swept the campus in true holiday spirit. Students wandered down to the basketball court to while away their doldrums, but somehow it did not succeed.

Painfully, almost tortuously, the last day before vacation arrived. Classes were cut (double cuts et al.), and students madly rushed with bulging bags to the station, frequently missing the train. Minced between bags and a lumpy train seat, everyone sighed contentedly. Sitting there looking out over a dreary landscape, one's mind wandered in retrospect over the past few months. All in all, the fall term had not been half-bad. The student made one ominous conclusion: he must buckle down and study during the Christmas vacation for the Term exams. Suddenly a malicious smile broke over his face—he knew there was something he had forgotten. It was the books, of course.

"Raise your voices to the sky . . ."

Winter

Winter silhouette

The big snowstorm, late in December, brought the actual realization that winter was with us. With the two or more feet of snow, there was great hope for the winter sport enthusiasts. Meanwhile, the more timid cold weather lovers began to wear scarves and button up, plodding along to classes as usual.

The vacation came swiftly and ended even more quickly. Salutations were exchanged the first days after and notes were compared about all the different events. Attention now was turned to still more pleasant pastimes with a complete apathy prevailing regardless of forthcoming exams. The more earnest arm-chair athletes spent weekends skiing, with Bromley and Stowe in the limelight (what with Smith at Manchester).

The short span to midyears finally caught up with us and the examinations were well under way. All night sessions with coffee, coke and benzadrine seemed to take the place of going down to "Joe's." Then came the short let up and a few days of vacation to recuperate. The pressure was over for another half year, but after the grades were published a few familiar faces on campus were gone. A large Freshman delegation seemed to have disappeared.

The winter sport schedule came into full swing. Dean Clarke and the swimmers were down at the pool every afternoon. Basketball went along very smoothly, with everyone jogging down to the Armory for the games followed by a re-play at "Heubs." Uppermost in everyone's mind was the thought that next year our home games will finally be played on the Hill. There was the exodus to Middletown for the first game with the usual—more than casual—interest by both groups of the spectators. Squash gained new interest again as a main sport, drawing the team and many Faculty and students to the Vaults above the pool. There seemed to be a general relaxation over the campus, a few snowballs here and there and a few icy walks to classes. A lot of grumbling about the imposed restrictions on social activities by the administration seemed to be the only discordant tone. The Junior Prom at the Hartford Club highlighted the winter season. Again the campus was invaded by a bevy of Vassar, Smith and Holyoke co-eds. The Faculty had trouble getting and keeping attention in classes the next day. Lent followed, and evening compline services were becoming popular, either through religious fervor or lack of credits.

The spring vacation loomed now as the new limelight, and plans, parties, and get-togethers were discussed and arranged for. A few days of occasional spring breezes played over the campus and off came our diehards' topcoats.

Spring

With the coming of spring to the college on the hill this year, more than another rotation in seasons was evident. The progress of Trinity's growth, of an expanding college that had been changing with the previous months, altered the usual symmetry of the campus. Spring itself, as always in the past, had its own particular symmetry. The lengthening of lines and shadows brought the customary and inevitable lethargy to the classroom. And young men's fancies began to turn again. Lingering on the campus became longer with the days, and the briskness and rush of fall and winter was lost underneath warmer suns. The elms broke long silence, transforming cold outlines with new leaves. The sidewalks became heavy with increasing shade. Even the new elms on the lower campus were spreading out in an almost symbolic growth. Everything took on a clean aspect.

Seniors began to look more observingly about them this spring. All the students were encouraged by the progress made on the new fieldhouse and the dormitory. Then, it was just another manifestation of "last-year-in-College" nostalgia—something stronger than a passing sentimentality. The graduating class knew also the last minute rush, the preparation for the most important event in college years. Suddenly, remembrance of the first day at Trinity as a beginning Freshman only four years before seemed like a small eternity ago.

Spring is an important time in the calendar of school events. Track and baseball teams came into play again. But this year, activity was not restricted to social or athletic events completely. Change was not a thing of month and weather. Both "activity and change" were building speculations of how the spring would look on a future Trinity.

The rapid progress of the last term of the school year brought the thought of final examinations closer. Underclassmen and upperclassmen alike knew the struggle to prepare for the culmination of a year's work when languor was increasing "'neath the elms". But the Senior Ball, last highlight of Trinity's social life, brought relaxation and enjoyment. For the Class of 1948, the "cruel outside world" began to take more definite shape, and the cloister of quadrangle and book was slipping slowly into memory. Frosh, Sophs, and Juniors were getting more impatient by the day for summer recess and retreat from class and lecture. There was a general restlessness in the student body.

Nineteen-forty-eight graduates felt an added distinction this year, the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of Trinity. The one hundred and twenty-fifth commencement was anticipated with excitement and a little regret, too. Time came to close the book, to say "so long," to take the last look. One hundred and twenty-five years is a long time; four years is memorably short.

Trinity was growing—would grow with the future, too. This "time present" would remain for the thumbings in a year book—pictures and words and memories. All but departures. You cannot put goodbye upon a page.

Fall of 1947 brought to Trinity College a successful and profitable football season. Trinity opened with a smashing 33 to 12 victory over Bates, the defending champions of small college football in New England. Then followed equally impressive victories over Middlebury, Hobart, Williams, and Norwich. In these games we averaged thirty-two points a game. This was the status as the Blue and Gold met her arch foe, Wesleyan, also unbeaten and untied.

Before a crowd of over nine thousand spectators, Trinity was defeated by Wesleyan 13 to 0, yet statistically Trinity was far superior, gaining almost three times as many yards in rushing as Wesleyan.

Captain Rog Bestor earned the pivot post on the All New England small college squad because of his exceptional playing throughout the year. Joe Ponsalle and Whitey Kunkiewicz were also outstanding performers. It is extremely difficult to pick any two or three players to comment on when in truth the entire team contained so large a number of star players.

Trinity will lose through graduation the services of Rog Bestor and Bob Boland, called by Coach Dan Jessee the outstanding blocker on the squad. These losses, although they are considerable, will not be irreparable. On the brighter side the return of Hal Heintz, leading ground gainer, Jack Corcoran, top scorer, Whitey Kunkiewicz, outstanding passer, and

"Hit him again—harder!"

Jack Carroll insure a potent offense in 1948. Back to perform in the line will be Joe Ponsalle, Bill Pitkin, Mitch Holmgren, Cy Seymour and Merlin Kolakowski. These veterans, with a host of other 1947 candidates, will form the nucleus of what may be an undefeated team in 1948.

After starting the season on October 2 with an overwhelming victory over Worcester Tech, the Trinity Varsity Soccer Team ended the season with a record of two wins and four losses. The main difficulty of the team this year was trying to replace the large number of men who were injured.

In the first contest, Dick Winchell was outstanding with his total of three goals scored from his center forward position. Jay Geiger, a veteran of last year's squad, tallied twice that day. Nick Nelson, with his single goal, completed the final score, which was Trinity 6, Worcester Tech 1.

Coach Bruce Munro would have settled for only half of the first game's total in his encounter with the strong M. I. T. eleven, because Trinity lost by a score of 2 to 1. This home game of October 18 was fought hard all the way, but Goodyear, Trinity's goalie, could not prevent M. I. T.'s scoring in the first and fourth periods. Trinity's only goal came in the second quarter, when Nick Nelson booted one past the opponent's defense.

With a four days' rest, the Munromen met a superior Yale team and suffered their second defeat, though they held the Eli scoreless for the entire first half. In the second half, Yale overcame a 1 to 0 deficit and scored three times. Trinity had previously tallied when Jay Geiger headed the ball into the net.

On November 1, the soccer team again broke into the win column, defeating the University of Massachusetts 6 to 1. The scoring for Trinity went as follows: Geiger, two goals; Vanderbeek and Nelson, one each.

In their fifth try, at Amherst, the Trinity booters again suffered defeat in a most gruelling game. Both teams were bogged down by a heavy rain, but the Amherst eleven was able to maneuver better than Trinity, for it scored three goals to our one. Captain Roy Morrel was the only member of the Trinity squad able to kick a goal.

In their last contest of the season, no Trinity man was able to score against the Wesleyan team, which was by far the toughest opponent of the year. The final score was Wesleyan 5, Trinity 0.

Coach Bruce Munro expects to have everyone except Captain Morrel back next year, and these experienced men, coupled with the Freshmen who will be eligible for varsity play, should afford opportunity for a much better record. Despite our record this year, soccer authorities named Nick Nelson and Roy Morrel for the all New England team, chosen from sixteen schools.

Student Coach Sam Waugh did the best he could with the Freshman squad, which encountered many difficulties during the season. Outstanding player on the Freshman team was Clifford, who did the majority of scoring. The Freshman record for the season is as follows: Windsor 3, Trinity 1; Choate 2, Trinity 1; Ellsworth 0, Trinity 2; Wethersfield 3, Trinity 2; Wesleyan 2, Trinity 1.

Cross-Country

Austin (Manager); Stidham, Teichmann, Lemieux, Wolford, Kestenbaum, Cunningham

The "unheralded Athletes" of Trinity, the cross-country runners, struggled through their second unsuccessful season since the sport was renewed after a five-year lapse. The record for the year was no wins and six losses.

The one bright spot was the performance of its captain, slight Eddie Lemieux, who was an individual standout all season. He placed first against Amherst, Worcester Tech, and Middlebury, while finishing second against Springfield, Wesleyan, and the University of Massachusetts. His best time for the Trinity 3.1 mile course was 16:02. Ed then went on to gain further honor by placing seventh in the N. E. I. C. meet at Boston and twenty-first in the I. C. U. A. meet at New York.

Others who contributed much to the team were lettermen Don Wolford and Tom Cunningham, both of whom will be back to bolster next year's squad. The Freshman team was sparked by Jack Kearns, of Hall High School, who was defeated only once during the regular season. His record time for the 2.3 mile course was 12:15. Others on the squad who performed well were Bill Brown of Wethersfield, Bill Hardy, a former Choate School runner, and Mike Billingsley, a newcomer, who joined the squad in mid-season.

Basketball

At Ivy press time, the basketball team had lost its first game to M. I. T., 42 to 40, and then gone on to gain three victories as follows: Trinity 58, Williams 36; Trinity 54, University of Massachusetts 37; and Trinity 72, Bates 58. Led by Captain Red Faber, the team looks forward to a good record this season, despite the rugged schedule. Highlights will be the Yale and the Holy Cross games.

Returning from last year's squad along with Faber are Bill Pitkin, Bill Leahey, Jack Scully, Jack Mahon, Ron Watson, and Joe Ponsalle. Augmenting these veterans are John Fink, a 1941 ace, Bob Boland, letterman in 1945-46, Charlie Dabrowski, Jim Brainerd, Sherry Hotchkiss, Stu Holden (all up from the Junior Varsity), and Dick Palmer.

Faber, Fink, and Boland are Seniors. Ponsalle and Leahey are Juniors. The remainder of the squad are Sophomores.

This is potentially a high-scoring team. Faber and Pitkin are fellows who can and do toss them in from all over the court. Watson, the long-boy of the team, is terrific under the basket. Mahon and Ponsalle can pop those set-shots with the best of them. Leahey and Scully have proven themselves excellent shot-makers. Fink and Boland are showing that they have lost nothing since starring in previous years. The fellows up from the Junior Varsity were all high scorers last year. This is a team that should turn in a good record.

It's in for Trin

Swimming

The graduation of many stalwarts on the swimming team has left the situation quite dark for this year's team. Coach Joe Clarke recently said that this season would be a process of rebuilding, with the stiff competition of the schedule providing valuable experience.

Only four lettermen have returned from last year's spectacular squad. They are: Captain Bob Tyler, outstanding distance swimmer; Jim Glassco, who gained fame in the backstroke event; Johnny Grill, the number one dash man, and Jim Page, one of last year's distance men. Sixty men turned out for the early November practice session, giving Coach Clarke ample material with which to fill the gaps left by graduation.

Bob Tyler, flanked by Bob Parker, Jim

Page, and Winky Bennet, will lead in the distance events. The sprint men will be led by Johnny Grill and Ward Vanderbeek, followed by Jay Robottom and Fred Moor. Jim Glassco, Bob Compton, and Chuck Tenney are expected to be the leading lights in the backstroke event. Bollerman and Burnett will fill the gap left by Dewey Yeager, while the breaststroke assignment will be filled by Andy Shepard.

This year's Freshman Team is rumored to be one of the best ever to don trunks at Trinity. Three of the Freshmen were members of the prep school or high school all-American team last year: Jim Grant from Haverford Academy, Felix Costa of Hartford High, and Tim Cutting of Lawrenceville Academy.

In a recent announcement, Coach Dan Jessee stated that the Varsity Squash Team of the 1948 season would be composed of an almost entirely rebuilt squad. In fact, last year's graduation stole the first five competitors from the Jessee-men. Men like Dick Weisenfluh and Bob Toland of last year's illustrious team are going to be extremely hard to replace. Yet it is expected that returning veterans Jay Geiger, Moose Montgomery, and Johnny Walton will be able to inspire the team to some victories. Newcomers such as Griswold and Norris have come a long way since last year and are expected to give even the three veteran players a hard battle for their positions before the season is over.

Even with so few veterans returning, Coach Jessee seemed quite hopeful, primarily because the majority of the team is composed of Sophomores. Many of the men are even newcomers to the game of squash itself, but all are working hard down at the Trowbridge Memorial Building, and to quote Dan: "They're coming along quite fast."

Jessee appeared to be quite pleased with the fine group of Freshmen who turned out for the Freshman Squash Team. With Burbank, Frost, Elmes, Laub, and Newton forming the nucleus, the Frosh should have a fine team this year. Dan also stated that these men will prove to be a great asset to the varsity squad in the ensuing years.

Tennis

The 1948 Tennis season may not be all that Coach Bruce Monro would like it to be, but he is not pessimistic about this year. The Blue and Gold lack adequately experienced material for the enterprising schedule they will encounter. Though Coach Monro candidly admits that the prospects for 1948 are not encouraging, he looks to the returning lettermen of 1947 to act as the core and spark of the greenhorns. The veteran racketeers include Captain-elect Ed Reynolds, Hank Montgomery, Ben Torrey, and Gus Stewart. The big job will be to uncover other candidates of ability to round out the squad.

Fencing

The Winter sports season of 1948 at Trinity included the new sport of fencing. Organized on an informal basis, and coached by one of their number, Jack Reynolds, the team has at the time of this writing proved itself in an informal meet by defeating Wesleyan, 21½ to 5½. Though fencing is the newest sport at Trinity, and still not officially recognized by the school, its victory over Wesleyan was the first this year of any athletic organization against that rival. At present the team has to practice in crowded quarters of Alumni Hall, but it looks forward to full minor sport status and ample accommodations next year.

Following this first victory, the team hopes to schedule matches with Columbia, Williams, and another match with Wesleyan during the remainder of this season. Members of the squad are: Jack Reynolds, coach and captain; Robert Blum, Harry Rowney, and Robert Reed, competing members; while newcomers to the team include: Ralph Chamberlain, John W. Parker, David S. Smith, Donald McClain, Ed Parone, Richard Osborne, Robert Obrey, and Harry Knapp. With these men as the basis of next year's squad, fencing can indeed look optimistically forward to a pleasant and successful future at Trinity.

Baseball

The baseball season at Trinity in 1947 was fairly successful. The squad, handicapped by a violent New England spring, was able to practice outdoors but once before launching a lengthy southern trip which took it down to South Carolina. Although these southerly schools were far more advanced in the matter of practice, the team managed to win two games while losing three. Upon returning north, Trinity took on its most difficult games with Army and Yale. Joe Julavits lost a thrilling 1-0 contest with the Eli's. After losing to Army, Trinity, with the benefit of better baseball weather, proceeded to win some games. Perhaps the highlight of the season was the two victories over Wesleyan.

A situation quite unique and encouraging exists in that Trinity lost no one through graduation from the 1947 squad. Back to hold down his position will be Bill Pitkin, strong armed catcher. The infield squad of Jack Mahon, captain-elect Marty Rouse, Pete Vibert, Bill Leahey, and Whitney Kunkiewicz, boasts offensive as well as defensive strength. Red Faber, Bill Powell, Hal Heintz and Bob Barrows are all veteran performers. Joe Julavits, Bob Wilson and Jack Scully, who composed the Blue and Gold mound staff in 1947, will be ready to fire again. If any help is needed, there are several promising candidates coming up from Junior Varsity.

Coach Dan Jessee, with the knowledge of his squad's ability, will be looking for a more successful start in 1948.

Trophies in Alumni Hall

The trophies in Alumni Hall represent victories gained over a period of more than fifty years, including a football which Trinity used in 1889 against Wesleyan, winning 4 to 2. Hilltop athletes have always made good showings, of which these trophies are but a partial indication. As Trinity enters its One Hundred Twenty-Fifth Anniversary with a greatly increased student body, the future for athletics is even brighter, especially in view of the new field house which will be ready for use next fall. At the same time, Trinity has a fine record to maintain.

Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity was founded at Trinity in 1895, and since that time it has grown to the peak of twenty-seven chapters in colleges and universities all over the United States. The Phi Psi Chapter has the honor of being the only National Fraternity ever founded at Trinity College.

This year has been most eventful for Alpha Chi Rho. Beginning with rush week, the Crows were busy entertaining the deluge of Freshmen, twenty-three of whom were pledged. Both in the fraternity and in other activities, the pledges have helped in every way to maintain the fine standing of Alpha Chi Rho at

Rouse and Monk Reynolds were captains of the Baseball Team and Tennis Team, respectively. It is little wonder that Alpha Chi Rho songs are sung with such lust, for Brothers Bland and Thomas were members of the Pipes, and Thomas was also President of the Glee Club. In campus activities, Alpha Chi Rho was exceptionally well represented. Roger Bestor was captain of the Varsity Football Team, and the following Brothers were also on the team: Fink, Peseux, Eblen, Albright, Barrows, Harries, Holden, and Page. The Soccer Team included Brothers Herbert and Matthews, and the Basketball Team had Brothers Fink, Holden, Hotchkiss, and Dabrowski. Marty

With the large number of pledges and the wide participation in other activities of both Brothers and pledges, Alpha Chi Rho can look back upon the year 1947-48 as one of its most successful.

Alpha Delta Phi, founded in 1832 at Hamilton College, is the oldest national college fraternity in the United States. It has been a pioneer fraternity in eleven colleges and was the first to establish a chapter in the Middle West. The fraternity has followed a conservative policy of expansion, entering only the leading colleges and universities in the United States and Canada, until now it has twenty-seven active chapters.

The alumni body of Alpha Delta Phi includes many distinguished leaders, among whom are Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, John D. Rockefeller, and Henry R. Luce. Alpha Delta Phi is also proud of its Brothers on the Trinity faculty. In addition to President G. Keith Funston, there are Henry A. Perkins, Professor Emeritus of Physics; Edward L. Troxell, Professor of Geology; and J. Bard McNulty, Assistant Professor of English.

successful in maintaining a group of men, living together, who can sincerely call each other Brothers.

Alpha Delts, however, are not ones to neglect extra-curricular activities. The past year's chapter roll boasts members active in every organization and in most varsity and freshman sports. Last December the Chapter collaborated with the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority to present a very successful minstrel show

Alpha Delta Phi was founded as a literary society; however, as the fraternity grew in size, so grew its scope until it now embraces all fields of scholarship. The Phi Kappa Chapter at Trinity College had its beginning as the local Phi Kappa Fraternity, and in 1877 received its charter as a member chapter of Alpha Delta Phi.

It is the aim of Alpha Delta Phi to produce well-rounded men trained to assume positions of leadership. Just as important is the development of internal unity. By taking small selected pledge classes, we have been for the benefit of the Connecticut Cancer Society. The performance, given in Bulkeley High School auditorium, was attended by over seven hundred persons.

The high point in this year's Chapter activities, for which extensive preparations have been made will be its sponsorship of the International Convention of Alpha Delta Phi, to be held at Trinity College on June 24, 25, 26, and 27.

Sanguine, erudite Delta Phi, winner of the Alumni Scholastic Achievement Trophy for 1946-47, boasted a midyear station complement of thirty-eight Brothers, twelve pledges, and of course its perennial frater in facultate, Professor Arthur Adams. With the Maltese Cross going on before, this bumper crew has scored its share of triumphs as a unit, with a series of successful house parties, intramural athletic contests, and a notoriously popular boarding club to its credit.

Individual accomplishment by the sons of Delta Phi has also brought fame to the House. In the literary corner, we have the Tripod.

Other undergraduate activities claiming Delta Phi attention were the Glee Club, of which Al King was Vice-President, Tom Lowry Manager, and Sven Anderson Librarian; ham station W1JUD, with Ray Barnes as prexy; the College Library, with Nort Hinckley as student head. Bud Overton was IFC representative, Tom Lowry the NSO agent, and Winky Gleason Senator. The Seabury Society overflowed as usual with Sigma pre-divines, including Harry Bracken, Harry Bush, Stan Rodgers, Don Hungerford, Rod Davis, and Web Simons. It is only fair to supplement this list of inordinately sane minds with our few sound bodies: John Griswold, Stan Rodgers and John Parke were on the soccer team, and Charley Riley and Rod Davis members of the cross-country team.

The exoteric motto of the Fraternity is "always everywhere," and the Brothers Delt permitted no more blotting of this escutcheon during the Trinity Term than in the Michaelmas one. While Nedley Williams was making katharsis (in the Aristotelian sense) a reality to Jester audiences, Craig Ludlow clove the cobalt waters of both the Freshman Swimming Team and the Nautical Association in Sigma's behalf. Dutifully rendering antiphons for Father O'Grady in the Chapel Choir all year were Brothers King, Minturn, and Ludlow.

Under the kindly light of Sergeant George Covert, USMCR, the Trinity Rifle Club was reactivated from the Freshman Platoon: George Wittman, Barry Colt, Phil Sturges, and Dean Beaver. And to cap all these climaxes, St. Elmo saved his frosting till the end: in April Brother Harvey Nourse, keen-eyed Rotary votary, was sworn into Delta Phi's only local rival, the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

The Chapter officers for this year were: Prefect, Raymond B. Barnes; Vice Prefect, Leonard C. Overton; Treasurer, George M. Covert; and Secretary, Harold W. Gleason, Jr.

Saint Anthony Hall opened its first real post-war year with a thriving group of twenty-eight Brothers and two pledges. After accepting eleven men as pledges during Rush Week, the Hall began the year's work in earnest. Parties, however, also played their role. Particularly successful ones were given after the Williams and Wesleyan football games; the Williams weekend was especially eventful by dint of the presence of practically the entire Hall chapter from that campus.

Athletically and extra-curricularly, Delta Psi

Hall men, almost all happily ensconced in Ogilby Dorm, enjoyed a fine year. Spirit in the Hall soared to greater heights, due to a fine freshman group and to the nutritious food graciously provided by the Eating Club.

Jim Brainerd and Erv Dunn played on a fair soccer team, Jim Glassco and Chuck Tenney were on the swimming team, Brainerd was on the basketball squad, Ben Paddock, Mike Mitchell, Bridge Griswold, and Ben Torrey played on the squash team. Dick Elam was Program Director for the campus radio station and Mike Mitchell was outstanding in his appearances on the round table discussions over that station.

Thirty-one Brothers and three pledges returned to a completely refurbished house this fall. The two new living rooms and redecorated basement bear witness to the hard work of Brothers and pledges alike during the summer and the guiding genius of Brother Scott Snead, without whose artistic eye we would never have succeeded in finishing this project. The rushing period was completed with the acquisition of twenty-two pledges.

Psi Upsilon was well represented in campus activities this year. Among the roster of the Glee Club was Vern Casey, Secretary, and Brothers Boardman and Cogswell, while the Jesters listed Walt Jacob among their members. Brother Montgomery was Chairman of the Interfraternity Council and the Psi Upsilon representative on the Senate. Jim Lim was President of the Engineering Club, and Dave Wilson was elected to membership in the Pi

Gamma Mu Society. The newly formed NSA included Brothers Hunter and Cornell as active participants, while the Canterbury Club was ably represented by Brother Cogswell. The class of 1948 had two Brothers as class officers: Dave Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer; and Harry Montgomery, Marshal. Hank Goodyear and Leigh Cornell were selected as members of the Sophomore Dining Club, and Cornell is also our representative on the Dean's List. Station WRTC this year had Jim Strongin as Head Announcer with Alex Hunter, Vern Casey, John Paddon and Dick Mecaskey as members of the staff.

In the realm of athletics we had four members on the soccer team this fall and one coach. Brothers Goodyear, Walton, Lim and Moor were the participants, while pledge Waugh acted as coach of the freshman team. Among the natators were Fred Moor and John Biddle on the varsity, and pledges Rib Smith and John Friday as outstanding candidates for the freshmen. The squash team included Captain Montgomery, John Walton, Ed Norris, Lee Wills and Albie Earling.

Finally, as house officers we had Bill May, President, Scott Snead and Fred Moor, Vice-Presidents, Walt Armstrong, Treasurer, and Monroe Long, Secretary.

Delta Chi Chapter of Sigma Nu was founded in 1918 when the local fraternity of Sigma Psi received a charter from Sigma Nu. Since this date, the chapter has ably taken its place among the hundred other chapters which stretch across the country. During the past year, the chapter has completed one of the most successful seasons in its history at Trinity College. Under the capable guidance of Commander James Prendergast, it enthusiastically entered into every phase of campus life. In addition, the conclusion of Rush Week saw Sigma Nu with its membership well over eighty, the largest in the history of the college.

Sigma Nu was also active in campus administration. Ed Faber was elected president of the Senate and of the Senior Class. Bob Tyler was Vice-President of the Senior Class. Jack Gunning served as President of the Junior Class with Dave Willerup its Secretary-Treasurer. Cy Seymour was Vice-President of the Sophomore Class. In recognition of their leadership in campus affairs, Brothers Faber, Holm-

In athletics, Sigma Nu had more than its share of varsity captains. Ed Faber was captain of the basketball team, John Noonan was co-captain of track, Bob Tyler was captain of swimming, Jim Prendergast was captain of the golf team, while Mitch Holmgren was elected co-captain of the football team, and Jay Geiger captain of soccer. The chapter continued to dominate the intramural picture by winning the Alumni Trophy for the third straight time and for the ninth time in the last fourteen years.

gren, and Tyler were tapped for the Medusa.

All this serious activity did not detract from the social picture. Sigma Nu served as host to the entire campus with open house during rush week and at its many parties and dances throughout the year.

Nationally, Sigma Nu is entering a new phase of post-war development, and Delta Chi Chapter at Trinity typifies this spirit.

SCHOLASTIC HONORARY SOCIETIES

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity is an honorary society founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. Membership is conferred for high scholastic standing. The Trinity Chapter, known as the Beta of Connecticut, was chartered by the Yale Chapter in 1845, and is the eighth oldest chapter in the country.

The prerequisites for students elected to Beta Chapter are as follows: an overall average for the three years of 89 for Juniors, and an overall average of 86 for the four years for Seniors. Election to Phi Beta Kappa is widely regarded as a mark of high distinction in scholarship. The following Trinity faculty members are officers of the Connecticut Beta Chapter: Morse Shepard Allen, Ph.D., President; Frank Woods Richardson, M.A., Vice-President; Arthur Adams, Ph.D., Secretary, and Anson Theodore McCook, B.A., LL.B., Treasurer. Student members are Theodore Lockwood, Charles H. Brieant, Samuel S. Goldstein, Leonard E. Greenberg, Alfred F. Helman, Thomas G. Scharff, William A. Studwell, Elliott A. Murray, Harvey E. Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu is a national social science honorary society, founded in 1924. The purpose of the society is to recognize outstanding scholarship in social sciences. Its members are elected by the unanimous vote of Juniors and Seniors who have completed at least twenty hours of work in the social studies with a grade of B or better. The Trinity College chapter, Connecticut Alpha, was given its charter in 1936. Professor Edward Humphrey is Honorary President and Professor Edward Troxell is Secretary-Treasurer. The following are also Trinity faculty members: Irwin A. Buell, John E. Candele, George B. Cooper, Harry T. Costello, G. Keith Funston, Albert E. Holland, Thurman L. Hood, Blanchard W. Means, Wilbert S. Ray, Christopher V. Salmon, D. G.

Brinton Thompson, Lawrence W. Towle, and Laurence L. Barber, Dr. Sven Nilson, Dr. Donald K. Marshall, Dr. Roger Shaw, and Sir Alfred Zimmern.

New Student and faculty members elected in 1948 are: Theodore D. Lockwood, Carl E. Steidel, David K. W. Wilson, Edward C. Anthes, Charles H. Brieant, Edward B. Burns, Floyd C. Cole, John P. Band

FIRST ROW: Elmes, N. J.; Bishop, R. T. E.; Donnelly, G. P.; Wynne, K., Jr.; Pierce, R. W.; Sunega, E. M.; Cowdery, A. R., Jr. SECOND ROW: Schmidt, W. R.; Dorman, B. A.; Pad-dock, B. H., III; Hutchins, A. F., Jr.; Bellis, D. O.; Hornish, W.; Kelley, E. A.; Richmond, W. R.; Levick, D. E.; Grant, T. G. THIRD ROW: Rome, D. L.; Condon, J. W.; Behley, W. W.; Roche, A. F.; Barry, R. B.; Jelke, M. F.; Pugliese, F.; McCallum, D. A.; Day, P.

Despite the skepticism of many, Trinity's new band began rehearsals with twelve men, and within a few weeks, it had grown by leaps and bounds; by the eventful Trinity-Wesleyan game there were thirty musicians, resplendent in natty blue and gold trousers with white sweaters.

After the football season was completed, the band continued to support athletic events, playing at most of the home basketball games and at the Wesleyan game at Middletown.

Rehearsals were held twice a week in preparation for the concert "On the Mall," to be held in May on the campus. Much credit for the band's reorganization and growth are due Ken Wynne, who was Student Conductor, and George Donnelly, who was Business Manager and Librarian.

Bells

Austin, W. P.; Brush, J. F., Jr.; Orr, J. W.; Albee, E. F.

The Bells Quartette was organized in November, 1946, by Joe Brush. The organization started operations with Stuart Richardson as first tenor, George Oberle as second tenor, Joe Brush as baritone, and John Orr as second bass. These men banded together for the purpose of "hearing themselves sing."

Word got out that there was such an organization, and the Bells were auditioned for a radio program over radio station WTHT. The first program was well received, and offers to sing for all types of functions soon began to pour in. Many of these were turned down, since the Bells wished to remain an informal group.

This year, the quartette continues without the excellent voices of George Oberle and Stuart Richardson. In their place, three more men have been added to lift the total to five. They are Sherman Beattie, William Sheehan, and John Gaisford. This will enable the group to do more advanced and more difficult music.

Boosters Club

FIRST ROW: Fandel, J. P., Jr.; Gaisford, J. E.; Straley, J. F.; Higginbotham, K. D. SECOND ROW: Schwartz, E. R.; Stokes, P. E.; Nicholson, B. K.; Van Loon, J. C., Jr.; Gottesman, D. S.; Miller, L. R.

The Boosters Club was founded in 1945 to promote greater interest in school activities and functions. At its inception the membership was small and the greater part of its efforts were devoted to publicizing athletic events, special lectures, and other campus activities which were of interest to the students. This was accomplished primarily through the medium of posters and regular news programs sponsored by the Boosters on radio station

WRTC. This year, while still retaining the functions of making posters and collecting, editing, and announcing the campus news, the organization with an increase of membership has been able to expand its sphere of enterprise to include social affairs. The Club has cooperated fully with the Neutral Club, the NSA, the World Student Service Fund, and has worked in conjunction with the Senate on several occasions.

The Boosters Club is not, nor does it like to believe it is, a restricted or exclusive group. It has the distinction of being the single campus organization which has tried to make every College attraction its special field of work. Significant also is the fact that the Boosters Club is a fair and representative section of Trinity's undergraduate body. The Club has grown slowly, but it has accomplished much. It is now an integral part of Trinity life. Officers for 1947-48 are James F. Straley, President; Bruce K. Nicholson, Vice-President; John P. Fandel, Jr., Secretary, and Kenneth D. Higginbotham, Treasurer.

A dance to boost

Canterbury Club

FIRST ROW: Cooper, Professor G.; Hoffman, R. P., Jr.; Donnelly, G. P.; Cogswell, B. M.; Lasher, R. C.; Walmsley, A. E.; Macy, C. T. SECOND ROW: Barnett, W. G.; Davis, R. C.; Frost, E. E., Jr.; Simmons, W. L.; Harper, S. W.; Paddock, B. H., III; Richman, M. N.; Tansill, R.; Waugh, S. G.; Rau, B. A.; Thomas, K. D.; Lambert, D. M. F. THIRD ROW: Howard, A. L.; Bray, A. F., III; Minturn, B.; Heikel, J. A., Jr.; Austin, W. P.; Hardwick, J. F.; Schmidt, W. R.; Kelley, E. A.; Prigge, R. D.; O'Hanlen, A. F.; Bush, H. C., Jr.; Bird, J. C.

The Canterbury Club was established in the fall of 1946, at the request of a group of Episcopal students in the College.

Chaplain O'Grady was instrumental in the establishment and early organization of the group, assuming the role of advisor until Dr. Donald K. Marshall of the Philosophy Department consented to act as the first Faculty Advisor.

In addition to its meetings, local services, and Lenten lectures given by the Reverend Kenneth W. Cameron of the English Department, the Club maintains contacts with such national groups as the Student Christian Movement and the Church Society for College work. Representatives of the Canterbury Club attended several conferences of the SCM during the winter and the major conference at O-At-Ka in June. Members of the Club also sat on the Inter-Faith Council of the College.

During the Christmas term of 1947, the Club sponsored a series of lectures by Chaplain O'Grady on "Christian Marriage" which proved stimulating and helpful to the large group of students attending it. A Retreat, also sponsored by the group, was conducted at the College just before the Christmas vacation.

The Club's primary aim, in conjunction with the program of the National Association of Canterbury Clubs, is one of fellowship for all Episcopal students of the College, resident or non-resident, for study, work, worship, service, and social life.

Cardinal Newman Club

FIRST ROW: Brygi, V. F.; Camilleri, S. J.; Fandel, J. P., Jr.; Luby, J. F.; Callahan, Father; Austin, F. N.; Trant, E. J.; Girgzyauska, J. J.; Connor, F. R. SECOND ROW: Meredith, T. M.; Kolakowski, M. C.; Boland, R. J.; Dolan, J. R.; Wade, I. C.; Gorman, W. V.; Grinswell, H. J., Jr.; Noonan, J. P.; Whelan, S. S., Jr.; Igo, F. J. THIRD ROW: Marut, S. W.; Arnold, C. H.; Fagan, L. A., Jr.; De Grandi, J. A.; Gunning, J. C.; Seymour, R. F., Jr.; Condon, J. W.; Maccarone, J. S.; Mullane, F. J.; Gaudreau, R. R., Jr.; Farrell, R. M.; Austin, A. J.; Quinn, J. P.

The Cardinal Newman Club is an organization that has endeavored to foster the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of the Roman Catholic students of Trinity College by welding them into a common union, and by assisting the College and its student body whenever possible. Under the able leadership of Father Callahan of St. Thomas Seminary, Bloomfield, this organization was brought back into existence on campus after the war with only a handful of men. With a wide selection of interesting and learned speakers, the Newman Club began to attract more undergraduates to partake in its many advantages and activities. Its growth towards a substantial body of members has been slow but progressive, and the Trinity Chapter increased in vigor when it became a member of the Newman Club Federation, of the Province of New England, in 1946.

Convinced of the importance and necessity of good speakers for college men, the Newman Club featured speakers who had something of significance to say. Liberalism, Secularism, and other such topics proven to be interesting to undergraduates were discussed during the Club's lecture series. The Newman Club of Trinity has always tried to inculcate the spirit of Cardinal Newman's words in his prayer, "May Christ support us all the day long, till the shadows lengthen, and our work is done." The Trinity Chapter has made a noble beginning.

Carillonneurs' Society

Austin, W. P.; Blake, W. H.; Brush, J. F., Jr.; Bird, J. O.; Richmond, W. R.

In the early part of November, 1946, George Oberle and Joe Brush formed the Carillonneurs' Society to train younger men to play the Chapel's carillon.

This year, the society boasts eighteen members in the beginner's stage. The college, for the first time, has three carillonneurs: Jack Bird, Wendell Blake, and Joe Brush, president of the society.

In the past year the organization has tried mainly to restock its music library by writing to other college societies for exchange of their catalogues. The group is also being mentioned in the International Society of Carillonneurs' Handbook, which lists all the great carillons of the world. This society has been contacted by Dr. Kamiel Lefevre, the International President.

Though the society at Trinity is young, the progress shown so far has been exceptional, and the Chaplain is pleased with the members' interest. Ringing the carillon is hard manual work, but it is also one of the most satisfying instruments of the College.

Chapel Choir

FIRST ROW: O'Hanlon, A. F.; Beattie, S. B.; Minturn, B.; Austin, W. P.; Brush, J. F., Jr.; Kulp, N. K. SECOND ROW: O'Grady, Reverend J.; King, A. W.; Johnson, H. S.; Edwards, D. F.; Richmond, W. R.; Ludlow, G. C., Jr.; Watters, Professor (organist).

The Chapel Choir files in regularly to perform its traditional functions at morning prayer and evensong on Sundays, and at the Wednesday morning service. The Choir leads the congregation in less familiar hymns and guides them in choral responses. Following prayer book ritual, the choral evensong and the sung communion services have long been customary at the Chapel.

Believing that some of the most beautiful music written is unfamiliar to the majority of the congregation, Professor Watters, organist and choirmaster, and Chaplain O'Grady have served to introduce many unusual composers to the students. The resulting services are unique in the degree of real musical achievement that is ultimately enjoyed by regular chapel goers. The Choir, though small and as yet not up to par, is striving to reach the standards of its preceding groups, and looks forward to a productive and edifying year.

Debating Club

Nirenstein, M. W.; Siegel, J. R.; Winston, F. B., III; Simpson, H. A.; Lambert, D. M. F;
Goldstein, S. S.; Rivkin, D. H.

This is the first year that the Debating Club has been organized officially since the war. Last year (1947) four men, under the guidance of Jim Egan, debated against several colleges with a great deal of success and a fair share of victories. The interest of the student body has made the Debating Club a growing organization, with ever increasing prospects.

The debating schedule this year has been an active one. Starting with a contest against Haverford College on December ninth, the Debating Club has done serious work toward making its debates interesting and informative.

The purpose of the Debating Club is to afford to those men who desire both the experience and practice of formal argument, the opportunity of displaying their talents from the podium. Instruction is given to those who seek aid or advice on either the practical or theoretical aspects of argumentation. Many men considering Law as their profession, have found the club an invaluable experience and an unusually profitable training for the legal profession.

Engineering Club

FIRST ROW: Austin, A. J.; Morley, R. A.; Michand, A. H.; Lim, J. T.; Miller, J. F.; Winquist, R. D.; Fink, F. G. SECOND ROW: Cole, F. C.; Van Winkle, H. R.; Ziemba, E. P.; Bingham, H. W., Jr.; Wilbur, B. F., Jr.; Bloodgood, F. P., III; Fairbank, P. C., Jr.; Gordon, W. A., III; Waltors, J. M., III; Wack, N. L.; Leeds, L.

The Engineering Club was first organized in the fall of 1943. Toward the end of this year the club became inactive because of the war. In September of 1946 activities were resumed by the club, and with the large number of science students, the year was most eventful.

The purpose of the club is two-fold: first, to foster interest in science; and secondly, to acquaint the students with practical engineering problems. This is accomplished by securing films of the various phases of engineering, such as electronics, machine design, and the latest developments in aeronautics. Men who are actively engaged in fields of engineering are frequently presented by the club as speakers in their field of interest. In this way the members come to know many men who are leading the way in the nation's research and industry.

The club is very fortunate in having for its advisor Harold J. Lockwood, professor of engineering at Trinity College. The officers elected for the 1947-48 school year are James Lim, President; Arthur Michaud, Secretary-Treasurer; and Julian Miller, Business Manager.

Glee Club

FIRST ROW: Hollyday, J.; Beaver, R. D.; Petrinovic, F. J.; Casey, W. V.; Thomas, P. L.; King, A. W.; Anderson, S. J. E.; Whelan, J. G. SECOND ROW: Greenwood, G.; Becker, G. E., Jr.; Carville, L. L.; Dorman, D. A.; Cowdery, A. R., Jr.; Richmond, W. R.; Cogswell, C. M.; Boardman, G.; Ludlow, G. C., Jr.; Schrader, M., Jr.; Edwards, D. F.; Laub, G. W. THIRD ROW: Kulp, N. K.; Vounatso, W.; Groth, J. F., Jr.; McCallum, D. A.

After its inactivity during the war and a slow revival because of a conflicting academic schedule, the Glee Club is once again a part of campus life. Under the direction of Professor Watters, who developed many successful vocal groups before the war, the club is looking forward to an auspicious season, comparable to that of any similar group in the country.

Tom Lowry, the club's business manager, has arranged a broad schedule, with concerts to be held in New Haven, Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. Most appealing to the members will undoubtedly be the joint concerts, planned with Pembroke, and the Connecticut College for Women. The possibility of the Philadelphia concert being a joint one with Haverford also adds great potential importance to that trip. A tour of such prep schools as Loomis, St. George, Westminster, Choate, Kingswood, Deerfield, Kent, Milbrook and Hotchkiss is expected to fill out the concert season.

B'nai B'rith Hillel Society

FIRST ROW: Mossberg, S. M.; Rome, D. L.; Kaufman, R. P.; Hurwitz, J. D. SECOND ROW: Goldberg, I. H.; Richman, H. C.; Goldstein, S. S.; Schachter, J. H.; Mancall, E. L.; Hellman, A. L.; Greenberg, L. E.; Rivkin, D. H. THIRD ROW: Katzman, M. H.; Frankel, M. A.; Gershman, M. Y.; Lavins, A. A.; Leeds, L.; Steinfeld, N.; Stein, M. R.; Ross, L. S.; Nirenstein, M. W.

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Society of Trinity College was formed in 1946 primarily to offer a religious, cultural and social outlet for Trinity students of Jewish faith.

Since its inception, the Society has held bi-monthly meetings during which speakers, some of national renown, have addressed the organization and its guests. Last year, in addition to its regular meetings, a seminar program was presented in which the organization discussed the Bible and its commentaries.

The Society, which numbers forty-two active members, has as its Hillel Advisor Rabbi Alexander Feinsilver of the Hillel Foundation at the University of Connecticut, and as its Advisor Doctor Feodor Theilheimer of the Trinity Mathematics Department.

The officers of the organization are: President, Elliott Mancall; Vice-President, Joseph H. Schachter; Program Director, Ronald Jacobs; Secretary-Treasurer, Leonard Hellman.

Ivy

FIRST ROW: Tansill, R.; Fandel, J. F., Jr.; Jones, R. E., Jr.; Nicholson, B. K.; Van Why, J. S.; Scully, J. F.; Macy, C. T. SECOND ROW: Jones, J. L.; Burns, J. J.; Herbert, R. W.; Stewart, G. L.; Lovell, J. C.; Scannell, J. R.; Grimes, J. W.; Brown, A. F., Jr.; Wade, I. C.; Donovan, E. P.

The 1948 Ivy began its job of compiling the yearbook in April of 1947, when the nucleus of the staff was formed. Determined to produce a yearbook worthy of the One Hundred Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Trinity, the Ivy staff, headed by Joseph S. Van Why, Editor-in-Chief, and Bruce Nicholson, Business Manager, worked many hours in formulating what it hopes will be an interesting and enjoyable yearbook. Meetings were held every Monday, beginning with the fall term, up until the deadline. Assignments were discussed along with progress of the Business Department. A system of down payments was instituted which promoted sales to the extent that five hundred copies, one of the largest numbers ever ordered, were contracted for with the printers. In order to encourage interest in the yearbook and to obtain an original cover design, a contest was held. With the assistance of Professor Taylor and Mr. Pappas of the Art Department, the entry of David Aldeborgh was chosen.

The Ivy staff had eight divisions. The Editorial Department was well handled by Feature Editor John Fandel who was assisted by Clint Wade, Frank Burns, and Bill Austin. Jack Scully efficiently carried out his difficult job as Sports Editor, along with Evan Woollacott, Mitch Holmgren, Ed Donovan and Bill Connors. The exceptionally large quota of advertisements was successfully filled by Bruce Nicholson, Jack Gunning, Ray Morley, James Grimes, James Jones, Dick Warren, Steve Harper, Paul White and Owen Mitchell. Because the Ivy was increased in size, a larger number of pictures were required, and Art Brown, Bob Jones and Gus Stewart were kept busy throughout the year as photographers. Bob Herbert and Jim Manion were Fraternity

Editors; Jim Scannel and Bob Tansill were the Publicity Managers, and Mike Campo was the Extra-Curricular Activities Editor. The Ivy was particularly fortunate to have Clint Macy capably handling the difficult job of obtaining all necessary information and pictures of the Juniors and Seniors. Dr. Williams and Mr. Mason were most helpful as faculty advisors. We are also deeply indebted to the Publicity Department which allowed us to use many pictures from its files, as well as other important information.

The 1948 Ivy represents the work and efforts of each and every member of the staff; it is a book which we have enjoyed making and which we hope the students and faculty will enjoy now and in years to come.

"Going, going - - gone!"

Jesters

FIRST ROW: Schachter, J. H.; Wynne, K., Jr.; McNulty, Professor J. B.; Craig, D. W.; Stokes, P. E.; Brush, J. T., Jr.; Campo, M. R. SECOND ROW: Neattie, R. S.; Gracey, O. F.; Straley, J. F.; Nicholson, B. K.; Albee, E. F.; Reid, R. H.; Edgar, N. L.; Campbell, F. S.; Reynolds, D.

The Jesters of 1947-48 are probably the best dramatic group in the history of the college. True to its maxim, "intelligent entertainment through dramatic experience," the Jesters successfully produced a variety of plays during the past two years, running the gamut from pathos to humor, farce to tragedy. "Golden Boy" was warmly received with Glen Gately doing an excellent job in the title role. Mike Campo was a "discovery" as the father, while Ken Wynne played the role of Eddie Fuselli with fine, realistic strokes. "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" was considered an overwhelming success. Moo Johnquest gave a colorful caricature of the Colonel while Mike Campo's interpretation of Jacobowsky was a seeing one, portrayed with intelligence and wit. Both productions, directed by Professor J. Bard McNulty, provided Hartford with rich entertainment and real theater. As a result of some excellent individual performances, several Jesters were asked to audition in New York by Broadway agents.

With the advent of the 1947 summer vacation, the Jesters sought an outlet for more dramatic expression. A group of the Senior Jesters hit upon the idea of summer theater work and as a result of great creative imagination, the Pitchfork Playhouse of Sharon, Connecticut, was conceived. In the foothills of the Berkshires a barn was found. George Dessart, Don Craig, and Mike Campo undertook the task of reconstruction, and Deac Charles handled the business end. The result was an unprecedented accomplishment. By the Fourth of July the barn became theater, the workhands became actors, and the plot of ground behind the Sharon Inn became a parcel of Trinity College. Pete Stokes, Ken Wynne, and Phil Hale joined the Pitchforkers as the season got under way. Many Trinity people made their way to the Berkshires as the fame of "The most charming summer theater in New England" spread even to the Middle West. The Pitchfork Playhouse will be a permanent organization to be used as a channel for the talents of Trinity College students.

The plans for the 1947-48 season are the most ambitious to date with a schedule of four plays arranged. "Dear Ruth" was produced in October and will be remembered for a sparkling, quick-paced performance. Don Craig, as Judge Wilkins, played notably well, and Pete Stokes's characterization of Albert Kummer was one of the brightest portrayals turned in.

The December production was in the way of an experiment. Maxwell Anderson's "The Masque of Kings" was the vehicle, played with great success. Ed Albee handled the role of Franz Joseph with dignity and depth. Joe Brush as Rudolph was commendable. Both plays were directed by the college's first student director, Don Craig. Don shows unusual ability along these lines and promises to bring the Trinity Jesters much fame in dramatic circles. Professor J. Bard McNulty and Professor Robert Vogel collaborated as faculty advisors. "Men in White" will be produced in the early part of May.

Behind the scenes at all rehearsals and at Avery there is much work that goes on which is hardly ever recognized. The diligence and contributions in lighting, stagecraft, and sound effects of Sherman Beattie, Neale Edgar, and Sam Edsel are very highly prized by the Jesters. The vast creative abilities of Joe Schachter as Production Manager for the past two years have been one of the outstanding contributions to the successes of our performances. Deac Charles has been untiring in his efforts as Business Manager.

"Ready - - - lights."

Medusa

Holmgren, M. E.; Faber, E. F.; Bestor, R. S.

The Medusa is one of the oldest honor societies on campus. Character, leadership, scholarship, and service are used as the basis for selection. Men chosen for this honor are "tapped" at a ceremony held once a year before the statue of Bishop Brownell. At present

Medusa consists of the following men: Theodore Lockwood, Mitchell Holmgren, Edward Faber, Edward Sitarz, Robert Tyler, John Fink, and Roger Bestor. Most of the former Medusa men have gone on to high honors in post-college life.

National Student Association

FIRST ROW: Walmsley, A. E.; Stokes, P. E.; Lockwood, T. D.; Hunter, A. M.; Wade, I. C.
SECOND ROW: Urquhart, R. A.; Cornell, L. B.; Straley, J. F.; Lambert, D. M. F.; Rorick, R. B.; Obrey, R. L.; Herbert, R. W.

The United States National Student Association was founded during a conference at the University of Wisconsin in 1947. Prior to this meeting, students from over 300 American colleges had met at Chicago to determine whether such an organization was needed and what its principles might be. As a result, a broadly based constitution was written to "Assist all students in procuring a more comprehensive education."

Ted Lockwood represented Trinity at both conferences and brought back information concerning the proposed NSA. The NSA Commission was formally ratified at Trinity by December, and it formulated a program divided into two categories - national and international.

The national proposals are briefly: a Course Critique, a proposed Inter-Dormitory Council to encourage student responsibility for campus activity and to integrate student government, a budget to facilitate financial campaigns, and a thorough consideration of the problems inherent in student-faculty-administration relationships.

The international aims are a concentrated drive for relief to needy students abroad, and the founding of a center on campus to distribute information concerning foreign exchange, travel opportunities, and the interchange of ideas.

Pipes

FIRST ROW: Thomas, P. L.; Yarrow, H. C.; Stewart, J. M. SECOND ROW: Garrison, R. L.; Mercer, D. M.; Heap, J. C.; Hamilton, R. C.; Carter, D. A.

Last year's "Pipes" organization was such a success that Trinity's counterpart of the Whiffenpoofs is here to stay. Unfortunately, voice material such as was prevalent in 1946-47 is a phenomenon which occurs at rare intervals, and this year's "Pipes" has the disadvantage of depending on strict harmony. However, in achieving this, they are still able to emote with the best.

Doug Carter and Bob Hamilton were the only veterans, thus the group had to fill in six parts of the octette with new men. It was a difficult job to make the initial start, but things developed rapidly once we were under way.

The purpose of such an organization is to perpetuate college melodies. The members of the organization feel that other types of music, classical, swing, or jazz, can be heard by merely turning a radio dial. College songs will be a lasting memory of one's college life.

Last year's success was climaxed by the production of an album of records, and it is hoped that another album can be put out this year.

Political Science Club

FIRST ROW: Lambert, D. M. F.; Dolan, J. R.; Cooper, Professor G.; Barber, Professor; Thompson, Professor; Whelan, J. G.; Loegering, J. R.; Mitchell, M. C. SECOND ROW: Brown, I. R.; Waugh, S. G.; Wade, I. C.; Rau, B. A.; McClain, D. S., Jr.; Smith, D. S.; Forster, H. H.; Aldeborgh, D. D.; Rowney, H. C., Jr.; Jackson, T. W.; Kaufmann, S.; Orr, J. W.; Ruthman, R. E.; Nirenstein, N. W.

The Political Science Club has as its aim the study of current international affairs. The club has met each Monday evening with a visiting lecturer leading the discussion on every other meeting. One has only to attend any meeting to witness the intense student interest in world affairs.

The club officers, President Clint Wade and Vice-President Harry Rowney, have done a superb job in guiding the student members and engaging the best of visiting lecturers. Behind the scenes, Professors Humphrey, Barber, and Cooper are always on hand to give advice and to organize stimulating discussions.

Not only has membership been larger than ever before, but also has the avid interest of all student members in the world problems of today been very encouraging.

Protestant Fellowship

FIRST ROW: Bridge, B. P.; Smith, D. S.; Gracey, C. F.; Missel, F. F., Jr.; Simonian, G.; Aldeborgh, D. H. SECOND ROW: Parks, C. T.; Collier, D. E.; Wack, N. L.; Weikel, J. H., Jr.; McClain, D. S., Jr.; Reed, R. H.; Straley, J. F.; Ruthman, P. E.

The Protestant Fellowship is the newest religious group on the Trinity campus. It was formed to meet the demand for a religious organization for the more than three hundred students representing the various Protestant faiths at Trinity.

The Fellowship was conceived at a meeting of the Inter-Faith Council in the Spring of 1947 and was organized by Fred Missel, Orey Gracey, and Dr. John E. Candelet, current President, Vice-President, and Faculty Advisor, respectively. The members have dedicated themselves to the purpose of providing a fellowship through which to explore Protestantism's relationship to the world in which we live, thereby hoping to broaden the cultural background and enrich the religious life of the entire college community.

Radio Station WRTC

FIRST ROW: Jenkins, R. T.; Thomas, D. M.; Shippy, D. E.; Strongin, J. W.; Gorman, D. T.
SECOND ROW: Grimes, J. W.; Casey, W. V.; Paddon, Jo. G.; Bacon, R.; Holljes, H. R.;
Pinney, W. G. THIRD ROW: Crittenden, R. W.; Billingsley, H. M.; Goldstein, S. S.; Piastro,
M. B.; Steinfeld, N.; Kulp, N. K.

Station WRTC began its 1947-48 broadcasting activities in new studios adjoining Woodward Lounge on November 3, introducing to the students and faculty the new staff for the ensuing school year. President G. Keith Funston, Dean Arthur Hughes, and Mr. Robert Bishop, newly appointed college Public Relations Director, were on hand to welcome the station on campus as the newest, full-fledged addition to student organizations.

Chief Engineer Don Shippy channelled the beam on 620 kc. at the beginning of the year, transmitting a favorable signal over the entire campus. Because of technical difficulties, the frequency was changed to 550 kc., continuing the strong signal previously achieved, with an output of approximately 15 watts. The station went on the air at 2:00 P. M. Monday through Friday, and closed at 11:00 P. M.

Taking cognizance of lessons learned during the brief, two-month period of broadcasting during the 1947 Trinity Term, the staff of WRTC decided to find out what kind of programs students wanted. Records were featured during the afternoon sessions as well as the late "Music to Study By," leaving the early evening hours for "live talent" programs, under the direction of Production Director Dick Elam.

James Strongin, station Program Director, worked hard organizing a good schedule, coaching and assigning announcers to various programs, together with other duties of his office. Tom Gorman, Sports Director, handled two regular sports programs a week, and also did an outstanding job sportscasting the Norwich football game from their home grounds, as well as giving an accurate running account of the M. I. T. - Trinity basketball game.

The Senate

FIRST ROW: Ramaker, R.; Faber, E. F.; Rouse, M. T. SECOND ROW: Macy, C. T.; Stokes, P. E.; Lockwood, T. D.; Mitchell, M. C.; Gleason, H. W., Jr.

The College Senate constitutes the official undergraduate executive, legislative, and judicial agencies, all rolled into one. Composed of representatives from both the fraternities and neutral bodies, this decemvirate is given the responsibility of financing and overseeing activities, arbitrating academic problems, and in general guarding the traditions and discipline of the College.

The Senate has performed its many functions with befitting dignity and effectiveness. Besides fulfilling routine obligations, they investigated the Dining Hall problem, instituted an internal security system along proctoring lines; and provided such miscellaneous services as promoting a relief fund for "Pop," the peanut man.

Sophomore Dining Club

The Sophomore Dining Club is one of the honorary societies of Trinity College, acting as official host for the college. In past years it has been inactive because of the war, but in 1947 it resumed activities. As host for the campus, its members greet all honorary guests and lecturers and guide them through the school during their stay. During this last year's series of lectures, dinners were held for guest speakers.

Brent Harries is President of the club, P. Thomas is Secretary, and R. Avitabile is Treasurer.

Commons Club

FIRST ROW: Mueller, F. W.; Beattie, S. H.; Hardwick, J. F.; Heap, J. C.; Beattie, A. B.; Urquhart, R. A.; Macey, C. T.; Donnelly, G. P. SECOND ROW: Krackhardt, E. M.; Richie, T. F. Jr.; Vail, I. G.; Kowalski, F. J.; Carroll, J. D.; Grant, T. G.; Howard, A. L.; Prigge, R. D.; Stowe, G. W.

Since its founding in 1931, the Trinity College Commons Club has become an outstanding contributor to college life. Established as an organization for neutral members of the college who wish to lead a more rounded college life, the club has always fulfilled its aims in furthering student-faculty relationships and providing social activities for its members. The Greek letter idea for designating the club has come up over and over, but has never been adopted. The Commons Club enjoys direct affiliation with the college.

The schedule this year included talks by many of the Trinity professors and other people of universal interest. These talks were given at the regular Wednesday night meetings, and were followed by bowling parties, or various other recreation. Social activities included the Homecoming Weekend Dance, which has become an annual event, the customary pledge party, and the final banquet. The club competed in the intramural sports with the fraternities, as well as in the interfraternity sing. It is hoped that the traditional service in the Chapel of Perfect Friendship, where the club's flag hangs, will be reinstated, as well as other traditional activities which lapsed during the inactive war years.

Trinity Flying Club

FIRST ROW: McClain, D. S., Jr.; Lambert, J. M.; Eilert, E. F.; Bishop, R. T. E.; Jones, J. L.; Steelman, J. F.; Stanger, R. A.; Paddon, J. G.; Wright, N. P., Jr.; Lambert, D. M. F.; Maher, R. R. M. SECOND ROW: Pierce, R. W.; Mackay-Smith, A., Jr.; McIntosh, G. T.; Sunega, E. M.; Waugh, S. G.; Armstrong, W. T.; Hueller, E. C., Jr.; Sexton, J. A., Jr.; Stidham, H. D.; Biddle, J. S.; Irons, W. G.; Nicholson, B. K. THIRD ROW: Van Lanen, W. H.; Robinson, W. T.; Cromwell, I. D.; Howe, C. W.; Jacoby, M., Jr.; Robinson, C. E., Jr.; Raden, L.; Wack, N. L.; Anderson, S. J. E.; Blum, R. M.

The Trinity Flying Club is one of the newest and largest groups on campus. It was founded last fall and represents the first post-war effort toward large scale flying activities here at Trinity.

Since the founding of the club, it has been learned that our organization is not the first of its kind on campus, for a number of years ago a small group of air-minded students banded together for a similar purpose. There is, however, little connection between the 1927 club and the new organization except for their mutual enthusiasm.

The original purpose of the club, as stated in the preamble of the constitution, is "to encourage interest in private flying, to provide more inexpensive flying rates for the members, and to promote efficient flying activities at Trinity College."

Under the energetic direction of the executive committee, the club has contracted for airport facilities and recruited several instructors from the student body. One of the first and most progressive measures taken was to join the fast growing Association of Northeastern College Flying Clubs. By means of our affiliation with this association, Trinity Flying Club activities will be synchronized with those of Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton, Wesleyan, and many other northeastern colleges.

Among the activities in which we shall participate are inter-collegiate flying meets, breakfast flights, and possibly a ski flight. It has even been suggested that a pamphlet bombardment of Wesleyan might be made in order to retaliate after our recent defeats.

In view of the large amount of interest and encouragement shown by both the students and the faculty, the future of the Flying Club at Trinity is exceptionally promising.

"Come with me, in my flying machine."

Trinity Nautical Association

FIRST ROW: MacDonald, W. D.; Cromwell, I. D.; Robinson, C. E., Jr.; Lawrence, E. M., Jr.
 SECOND ROW: Brewer, G. E., III; Sherman, R. D.; Campbell, F. S.; Morley, R. A.;
 Hutchins, A. F., Jr.; Lambert, J. M.; Detwiler, P. M.; Lambert, D. M. F.; Maher, R. R. M.
 THIRD ROW: Laub, G. M.; Threshie, P. H., Jr.; Bailey, L. J., Jr.; Lublow, G. C., Jr.; Jackson,
 F. W.; Smith, E. L.; Sheahan, D. E.; Mitchell, D. M.; Nash, F. P., Jr.; Wack, N. L.;
 Jacoby, M., Jr.

The Trinity Nautical Association has been in full swing since the beginning of the fall term, and has participated in all the scheduled races of the I. C. Y. R. A. in Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island.

During the early part of the year, the sailors' activities were necessarily curtailed to a large extent for lack of a home fleet. A sponsorship drive for a new dinghy fleet was effected in November, however, and in view of the gratifying contributions which have been made it is expected that the last of the ten new boats will have been delivered by early spring.

The Trinity sailing teams this year were characterized by their frequent good starts and by their barometric adroitness under conditions of shifting winds and inclement weather. Apart from the racing aspect of the Association's activities, considerable attention was given to the instruction of the non-racing members.

Officers of the Nautical Association during the past year have been John Lambert, Commodore; Peter Detwiler, Vice Commodore; G. Keith Funston, Rear Commodore (honorary); Amos Hutchins, Secretary; Brooks J. Maue, Assistant Secretary; and Dave Lambert, Treasurer.

Trinity Review

FIRST ROW: Hinckley, N. G.; Gleason, H. W., Jr.; Gottesman, D. S. SECOND ROW: Parke, J. B.; Rodgers, S. F.; Albee, E. F.; Fandel, J. P., Jr.; Stowe, G. W.

The Review, Trinity's undergraduate literary magazine, was revived in the fall of 1946 by Frederick D. Neusner, '47, and Harold W. Gleason, Jr., '48, after five years of wartime quiescence. Two 32-page issues were published last year, in which a total of thirty-seven short stories, articles and poems by members of the student body and faculty made their appearance.

After considerable experimentation, several permanent changes have been made in the anatomy and the policies of the Review. Among these are regular publication dates in November, March and May of each academic year; deliberate encouragement of new forms in self-expression; and a unified command derived solely from superior creative writers on the campus. A pleasingly conservative format and pocket size have also been adopted.

The 1947 editorial board is composed of these men: Harold W. Gleason, Jr., '48, Editor-in-Chief; Thomas C. F. Lowry, '49, Executive Editor; Stanley F. Rodgers, '50, Art Editor; George W. Stowe, '49, Circulation Manager; David S. Gottesman, '48, Business Manager; and Edward F. Albee, '50, Edward B. Burns, '48, John P. Fandel, Jr., '48, Norton G. Hinckley, '48, Theodore D. Lockwood, '48, and John B. Parke, '48, Editors.

Trinity Tripod

FIRST ROW: Avitabile, R. K.; Mitchell, L. L.; Stowe, G. W.; Herbert, R. W.; Jenkins, R. J.; Detwiler, P. M.; Bowden, R. D.; MacKesson, J. R. SECOND ROW: Nicholson, B. K.; Rau, B. A.; O'Connor, G. B.; Mullen, R. E., Jr.; Matthews, E. W.; Wade, I. C.; Steinfeld, N.; Overton, L. C.; Scannell, J. R.; Brown, A. J., Jr.; Johnson, A. B. THIRD ROW: Blum, R. M.; Rodgers, S. F.; Rankin, M. F.; McGaw, D. B.; Miller, L. R.; Gleason, H. W., Jr.; Burke, H.; Lovell, J. C.; Perez, H. S. W.; Jones, R. E., Jr.; Smith, E. L.

The Tripod is the undergraduate newspaper at Trinity. Since it was founded in 1868, the Tripod has been in continuous publication except for periods during the first and second World Wars.

Upon resumption to its regular edition in 1946, the paper has grown to an unprecedented size, with 50 members on its staff. At present the Tripod alternates between a four-page edition one week and a six-page edition the following week. Because of the increased size, a larger volume of advertising has been necessary, and this need has been successfully met by Business Manager Peter Detwiler and

Advertising Manager Bowdoin. Editor-in-Chief Robert Jenkins and his competent staff have endeavored to give the student body a wide coverage of all the news at Trinity as well as to provide a means by which the opinions and questions of the students may be aired. Such debatable subjects as the dining hall, behavior in Chapel, and student support of activities have been handled by editorials, letters, and special polls. The Tripod has interviewed a number of students, the late Governor McConaughy, and Republican aspirant to presidential candidacy, Harold E. Stassen. Besides covering fraternity news, extra-
